Short description: The aim of the online meetings with the EDN partners and EDN participants was to make the final evaluation of the project. We have also organized an online workshop on online resilience in order to empower EDN participants in times of Covid-19 pandemic. The aim of the final conference was to discuss and exchange experience on the following issues: How can civil society and activist movements resist and handle attacks by authoritarian governments on democratic values and basic rights, also in times of the COVID-19 pandemic? And how can new forms of interventions inspire these movements and revive democracy? The practice-oriented Online Learning Exchange connected activists defending democratic values and change makers designing and implementing new models of participation and deliberation, beyond periodic elections. During the event, guests got involved in dialogue, shared their ideas and explored concrete examples and best-practices of citizen-centered and future-oriented democratic innovations.
