

In NESEHNUTÍ, 2022 marks the end of the first quarter century of our efforts to create a better and more just world. And although the members of NESEHNUTÍ are often younger than the organization itself, we continue to strive for societal changes based on respect for people, animals, and nature. We continue to hold on to youthful ideals and believe that the impulses for change must come from below, from active individuals and collectives who are interested in what is happening around them.

We are happy that we are not alone in this, even after twenty-five years, and that you, our partners, colleagues, and supporters, are here with us.

We celebrated the twenty-fifth birthday of NESEHNUTÍ with activities that accompanied us in various forms throughout 2022. Through workshops where we educated ourselves together with young people. Through meetings with the members of our partner organizations who are pushing together with us wherever we seek social change. And also, through the collaboration across all of NESEHNUTÍ's programs, which, despite their different objectives, show that the issues that contemporary society is tackling are interconnected and need to be constantly seen in the wider context of the world around us.

In addition to our birthday party, there were other opportunities to meet active people and organizations that filled us with gratitude that we are on this journey with all of you. Indeed, without the support of the public, our donors, volunteers, and friendly organizations, it would be completely impossible for us to continue on this path.

Thank you and we look forward to many more years of engagement.

We feel responsible for what is happening around us. We work for change towards justice and equality. We want an open and engaged society, capable of dialogue and based on respect for nature, people, and animals. We activate communities and individuals to act on the basis of ecological and social context. We embrace responsibility as an integral part of freedom.

WE ARE NESEHNUTÍ (THOSE WHO DO NOT BOW).

We feel grateful to be surrounded by people who share the same values and support us not only morally but also financially.

In 2022, donors supported NESEHNUTÍ with donations worth 2 799 655,00 Kč.

Thanks to our supporters, we know that we are not alone in our quest for a fairer world. Without them, we could not implement our activities and other much needed steps towards greater freedom, responsibility and public engagement in the Czech Republic and abroad.

We greatly appreciate their help and thank everyone who offers help together with us.
