

NESEHNUTÍ

ANNUAL REPORT

2025

INTRODUCTION

The year 2025 was a period of intensive work, particular results, and important systemic changes for NESEHNUTÍ. At a time of escalating crises, we continued supporting civil society where its role is essential, while seeking new ways to strengthen solidarity, cooperation, and sustainability.

In the Czech Republic, we achieved a major advocacy success – after several years of effort, an amendment to the school catering decree was approved, shifting school meals toward healthier and more sustainable nutrition. At the same time, we supported this change in practice by collaborating with schools, supporting cafeteria staff, and publishing methodological materials and a cookbook that reached hundreds of schools across the country.

In the field of education and youth work, we focused on violence prevention, promoting respectful relationships, and strengthening civic participation. We organized dozens of workshops in schools, developed new educational programs, and opened discussions on equality, the climate crisis, and responsible behavior in society. International projects also played an important role, connecting young people across countries and enabling the sharing of experiences and the joint creation of initiatives.

INTRODUCTION

We also continued our work in climate education and urban development, engaging students, experts, and local governments. New methodologies were developed, and we organized workshops, public walks, and classes at schools and universities. At the same time, we participated in expert discussions and contributed to strengthening sustainability issues in the public sphere.

At the international level, we supported civic initiatives and active individuals in Armenia, Georgia, and Ukraine. We helped develop community projects, strengthen civil society, and respond to challenging social and political conditions. Our work also included material aid, education and support for international cooperation.

Through our community programs, we created spaces where local residents and newcomers could meet. Through tutoring, community activities, summer day camps, and shared cooking, we supported family inclusion, relationship-building, and mutual understanding. Young people and volunteers also played an important role in those activities.

2025

The year 2025 demonstrated that connecting advocacy, education, and direct field support brings meaningful and long-term change. In 2026, we continue this work with the goal of further strengthening a just, open, and sustainable society.

We thank everyone who supports us.

THE INITIATIVE WAY

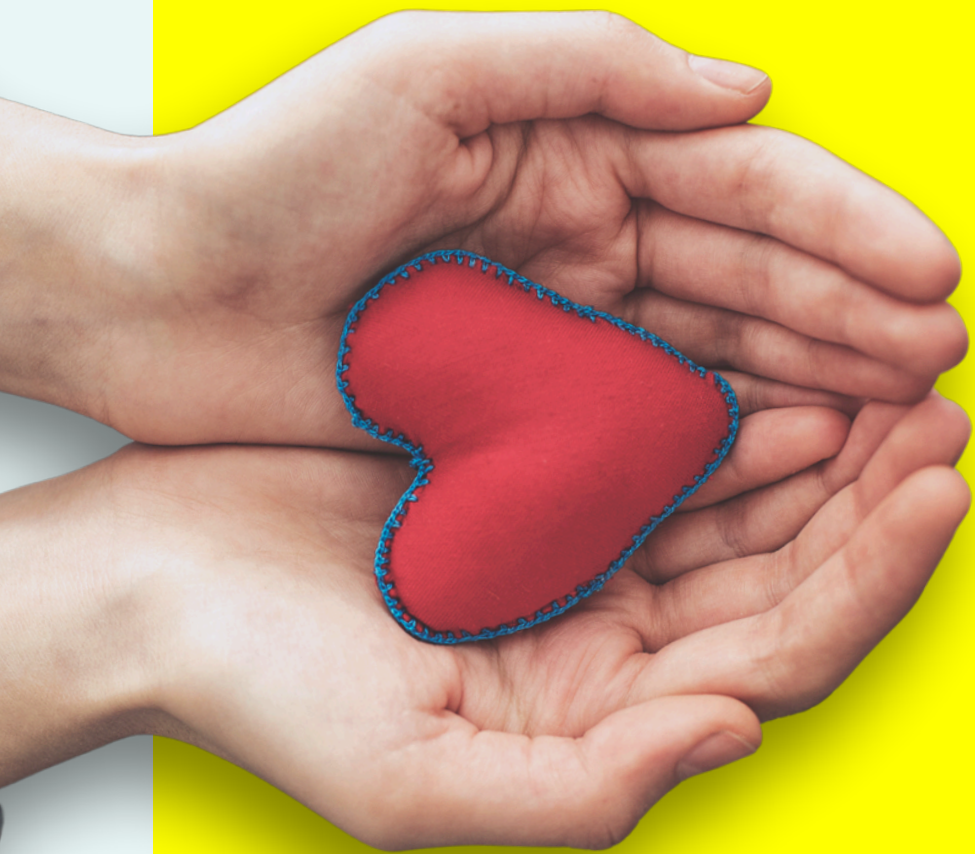

ARMENIA

In 2025, we supported civic initiatives in the Armenian regions of Lori, Tavush, Vayots Dzor, Armavir, and Syunik. The project combined microgrants, mentoring, education for regional leaders, and community campaigns focused on addressing concrete local issues. Supported initiatives addressed topics such as infrastructure improvements, environmental protection, access to public services, and local economic development. The project also included a study visit for Armenian activists to the Czech Republic, where they learned about civil society, participatory processes, and community work.

The project brought concrete changes to several communities. In the Syunik region, in a border village, local residents succeeded in restarting long-delayed road repairs, improving access to services and healthcare. In Armavir, a civic initiative drew attention to air pollution from a local industrial plant, resulting in the installation of filtration technology and a significant reduction in emissions. In the village of Artashar, activists solved the problem of wastewater contaminating agricultural land; thanks to new technical solutions, irrigation was restored across approximately 130 hectares.

ARMENIA

In the Lori region, more than 40 beekeepers joined forces in an initiative that secured support from local authorities for the development of beekeeping and the preparation of a regional honey festival. In Pempzashen, activists addressed water shortages, leading to the creation of seven rainwater collection systems and a public drinking fountain. The project's success also attracted additional donors who offered funding for the reconstruction of a water reservoir serving seven surrounding villages.

An important outcome of the project was also the creation of a network of regional leaders who now help mobilize their communities and open dialogue with local authorities. In the future, we aim to continue developing this network and supporting new civic initiatives in Armenian regions. We especially want to focus on the long-term sustainability of campaigns, the development of local economic activities, and strengthening dialogue between communities and public institutions.

We are also highly motivated to continue international cooperation and experience-sharing among activists from Armenia, Georgia, and the Czech Republic, contributing to stronger civil society, mutual solidarity, and communities' ability to advocate for change in their surroundings.

GEORGIA

In 2025, Georgia continued rapidly moving from a democratic toward an authoritarian regime. The government of Georgian Dream adopted a number of measures restricting the work of independent media, NGOs, and civic initiatives. It introduced laws limiting their ability to receive foreign funding and exposing them to the risk of heavy fines and, in some cases, imprisonment. Despite this, courageous people remain in the country, and we sought to support them.

In cooperation with the Embassy of the Czech Republic in Tbilisi, we organized a barcamp titled Civic Space: For Stronger and Freer Georgia, focused on the country's difficult political situation. We also supported several civic and journalistic initiatives.

We further organized a retreat – both a restorative and supportive stay – for Georgian activists who have spent more than a year protesting against the country's pro-Russian direction. During this international gathering, they had the opportunity to reflect on their work, the situation in Georgia, and possible future developments. The program included both group and individual psychological support.

GEORGIA

We also organized a fundraiser to support Georgian activists and continue searching for additional ways to help people who have chosen to remain in Georgia and courageously continue meaningful activities with the potential to gradually improve society as a whole.

CAMPAIGN

In the first half of the year, we led a successful campaign calling for an end to Russian oil imports to the Czech Republic and subsequently for the cancellation of the exemption from European sanctions that had allowed these imports. Thanks to our organization's targeted advocacy work and strong public support, an important step was achieved toward strengthening the country's energy security.

CAMP AIGN

Through our campaign, hundreds of supporters contacted Prime Minister Petr Fiala and Minister of Industry and Trade Lukáš Vlček demanding the termination of the exemption.

The European Union subsequently abolished it within the framework of the 18th sanctions package, closing the possibility of easily restoring the Družba oil pipeline operations, as had previously threatened, and definitively ending the Czech Republic's dependence on Russian oil supplies.

This step strengthened not only the country's energy independence but also its clear values-based orientation during the continuing Russian aggression against Ukraine, while demonstrating that persistent civil society work and active public engagement can bring concrete and tangible change.

UKRAINE

In August, we organized a visit to Prague for Ukrainian human rights defenders, who informed candidates in the elections to the Chamber of Deputies of the Parliament of the Czech Republic about human rights violations in occupied territories, shared testimonies about Russian war crimes, and explained the necessity of continued support for Ukraine. At the end of the year, we organized a strategic planning session in Kyiv for these defenders, helping them continue their work more effectively.

At the same time, we focused on supporting local governments in war-affected regions. We organized a study visit for mayors from municipalities such as Mala Vyska, Adzhamka, Bobrynets, and Smoline in the Kirovohrad region, which, alongside electricity outages caused by Russian attacks, also face critical shortages of drinking water and a lack of water infrastructure. The trip focused on sustainable and efficient water management solutions in the Czech Republic as well as in Slovakia, Poland, and Hungary.

UKRAINE

We also supported three initiatives in the Kherson and Kirovohrad regions that monitor public spending on post-war reconstruction and oversee its effective use. Thanks to donor support, we also secured equipment for a children's center in Kherson. Throughout the year, we delivered a wide range of material aid to civic initiatives, especially in southern Ukraine – from tools, vehicles, and drone detectors to batteries, generators, radon detectors, and other essential equipment.

SUN FOR UKRAINE

The Sun for Ukraine initiative once again involved hundreds of people who care deeply about the situation in the war-affected country. We witnessed firsthand how even a small solar power plant can provide electricity for a wastewater treatment facility – and thus drinking water for an entire city.

People in Ukraine are immensely grateful for this help; beyond the material support itself, they especially value the sense of solidarity that comes with it. Thanks to several hundred donors from the Czech Republic, a solar power plant was installed at the ophthalmic microsurgery department of St. Luke's Hospital in Lviv, a highly specialized facility unique within all of Ukraine.

A significant part of this effort was the repeated cooperation with E.ON, which donated solar panels to the towns of Shatsk, Turbiv, and Myrhorod and helped secure electricity for local schools, water utilities, and healthcare facilities. Additional solar plants were built in Chernihiv, Vinkivtsi, and other smaller municipalities. We are also delighted by the large number of people who joined the fundraising campaign to transport several thousand solar panels to more than fifteen Ukrainian cities.

SUN FOR UKRAINE

In the future, we look forward to opening additional solar power plants, for example in Shatsk, Lviv, Sambir, and many other places. Given the catastrophic state of the energy infrastructure, we want to focus on transporting larger quantities of solar panels to help ensure stable supplies of electricity and heat during critical periods.

F*ÉRA

In 2025, within the F*ÉRA program, we implemented the project Without Violence: Building Respectful Relationships, supported by the Office of the Government of the Czech Republic. The project focused on preventing gender-based violence among young people. Our main goal was to strengthen adolescents' ability to recognize warning signs in behavior and support them in setting healthy boundaries in relationships. A key part of the project consisted of interactive Without Violence workshops at primary and secondary schools, where we openly discussed respect, relationships, and the impacts of gender stereotypes with students. At the same time, we worked on developing a new workshop focused on sex education with an emphasis on respectful relationships.

Alongside direct work with young people, we also created methodological materials for teachers, including a new methodology for sex education workshops, helping them address these sensitive topics in schools and family discussions. We organized two roundtables for prevention specialists and recorded three thematic podcast episodes. Thanks to support from the Office of the Government of the Czech Republic, we reached more than 120 young people and supported teachers and prevention specialists, contributing to safer and more respectful environments in Czech schools.

F*ÉRA

As part of the Erasmus+ project YouthVoice4Equality, we focused on strengthening youth participation and preventing gender-based violence and hate speech. We organized workshops at secondary schools and lower secondary schools on violence prevention as well as newly developed workshops focused on recognizing and appropriately responding – or not responding – to online hate speech. An important component of the project was the November Town Hall meeting, a moderated discussion between students, teachers, school staff, and school management.

F*ÉRA

We also participated in the international Visegrád project Inclusive Youth: Art for Impact, which focuses on educating young people in human rights, inclusion, and the empowerment of women, queer people, and other disadvantaged groups through artistic and activist methods. Within the project, we contributed to organizing educational activities, particularly the international Artivistic Academy in Sarajevo and the follow-up online academy.

F*ÉRA

The year 2025 also marked a major transformation in our podcast production. We said goodbye to the podcast Vulvgang and introduced a new format: FÉRA – the Feminist Era. This rebranding represented not only a change of name but above all a shift in content: F*ÉRA is a space for sharing our vision of a just, respectful, and feminist society and for clearly articulating the values NESEHNUTÍ strives for. For us, F*ÉRA is a space where theoretical concepts of equality are connected with everyday reality.

Over the past year, F*ÉRA addressed key topics such as violence prevention and building respectful relationships. Notable episodes included How to Approach Sex Education with Associate Professor Lucie Jarkovská, which demonstrated that quality sex education is not only about biology but also about developing the competencies necessary to understand oneself and others. In the episode How to Work with Emotions (Not Only in Children), we discussed emotional work and how parenting is shaped by our own childhood experiences with Lucie Bartoň Čechovská. In How to Handle Anger Without Violence, we spoke with Klára Zahumenská and Martin Štýber from SPONDEA about how violence is not a matter of personality, but often the result of learned patterns and ineffective coping strategies that can be changed.

We have long been members of the umbrella organizations the Czech Women's Lobby and the Standing Conference of Associations in Education \(SKAV\). Through these platforms, we actively engage in advocacy, contribute to consultations on public policies, and work collectively to promote systemic changes and reforms in the areas of gender equality, education, and the prevention of violence.

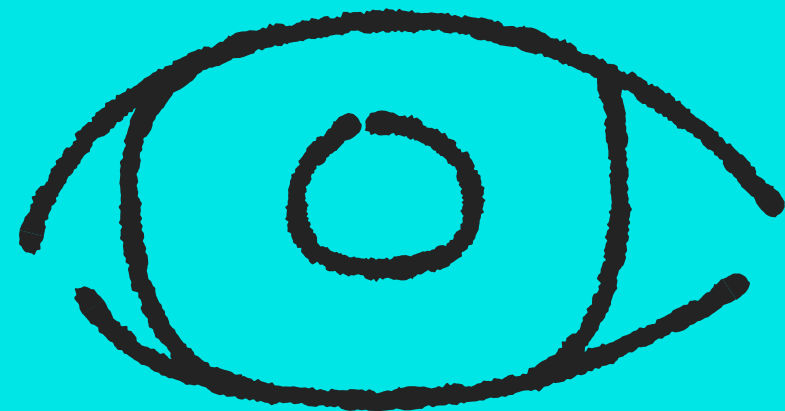

CITIZEN EYE

Citizen Eye entered 2025 with a new strategic plan that we prepared in the spring. At the same time, we successfully completed a project supported by the State Environmental Fund, within which two methodologies were created – The City Is Nature and Cities Belong to All of Us. We also organized workshops focused on climate education at vocational secondary schools, specifically at the Forestry School in Hranice, secondary nursing schools in Jihlava, Prostějov, and Kyjov, and public administration secondary schools in Polička.

In addition to educational activities, we also organized thematic walks connecting theory with practice in public space. These included a situationist walk with Radoslava Krylová for students of the Faculty of Fine Arts supported by the State Environmental Fund, a walk focused on inclusive urbanism in cooperation with the Scout Institute, a walk on urban planning and inclusive urbanism for a doctoral conference in social geography, and a walk on gentrification as part of a May Day event organized at Káznice. Within the framework of the State Environmental Fund project, we also organized two workshops combined with walks focused on urban greenery during Design Week Zlín.

CITIZEN EYE

As part of the Erasmus+ program, we organized two creative workshops with Galerie Cejla during Brno Art Week for photography students from Charbulova Secondary School and Scio Secondary School in Brno. Another activity was a seed bombs workshop with artists Martin Nytra and Iva Davidová held at Co.Labs Park.

CITIZEN EYE

Within the GearUp project, six new articles were published for the Wise Cities website, and five volunteers and interns participated in the project's implementation.

Other activities included participation in teaching within Masaryk University's international summer school *Urban Sustainability: Engage in the Future. We also continued operating our advisory service, through which we answered approximately twenty inquiries free of charge and provided longer-term consultations by email. In cooperation with the Faculty of Arts at Palacký University, we organized a workshop focused on adult education in climate protection.

We also participated in public events – we supported the October demonstration in Brno in support of the Ministry of the Environment, gave a presentation at a conference organized by the Czech Academy of Sciences on climate education at vocational secondary schools, where we shared our experience and identified challenges, and contributed to the Hnutí Brontosaurus event Generation (E)arth.

CITIZEN EYE

We are long-term members of Zelený kruh and Klimatická koalice, through which we cooperate in promoting systemic changes in environmental and climate protection.

SKR

TOGETHER TOWARDS DIVERSITY

In 2025, the Together for Diversity program continued supporting a community and adaptation space for local and newcomer families despite significant changes in funding and team capacities. During the year, we focused on stabilizing activities, seeking new resources, and gradually reorganizing the program.

The key activity remained the children's club and parents' club, implemented from October to December 2025 within the project Together We Create, supported by the Lutheran World Federation Prague. A total of 33 participants – children, parents, and volunteers – took part in the activities. Children participated in creative and educational activities focused on developing language and social skills, while parents used the space for sharing experiences, mutual support, and informal language practice. The program was newly opened to younger children, allowing greater family participation.

During the first half of the year, the Active Tutoring program supported approximately 40 families. The activity contributed to the development of children's language and educational competencies while also providing students with opportunities to develop teaching skills in practice.

SKR

TOGETHER TOWARDS DIVERSITY

The summer day camp took place from August 18–22, 2025, with the participation of 15 children from diverse cultural backgrounds, including Ukraine, Syria, India, Japan, and the Czech Republic. The program focused on cooperation, creativity, and relationship-building across languages and cultures. An important component was the final community celebration with parents, which strengthened ties between families and our organization. The camp also provided practical support for parents, who gained time for work or rest.

SKR

TOGETHER TOWARDS DIVERSITY

We also continued the Czary Wary community and culinary activities, implemented as part of the Cultivate project. We organized regular community meals and social pop-up dinners where local residents, newcomers, and volunteers met together. We cooked, shared food and stories, and created an open space for intercultural encounters. At the same time, we participated in international cooperation, sharing experiences and developing approaches to sustainable and community-based food systems. We introduced tools supporting food-sharing initiatives into practice, allowing us to further develop our activities and strengthen the role of food as a means of connecting people and building community.

A significant role was played by a group of young people from Ukraine who actively participated in implementing activities – from supporting children’s clubs and community meetings to culinary events. Their involvement strengthened not only the activities themselves but also their own competencies, sense of belonging, and active participation in the community.

SKR

TOGETHER TOWARDS DIVERSITY

At the international level, the Erasmus+ project *Community Re-awaken was successfully completed in 2025, with outputs contributing to a better understanding of the needs of young people with migration experience. At the end of the year, the new Erasmus+ project BRIDGE was launched, including an introductory partnership meeting and the establishment of the main directions for future cooperation. The BRIDGE project focuses on connecting community work, alternative narratives, and storytelling to strengthen more inclusive and interconnected local communities.

The year 2025 was also a period of internal development – strategic planning took place, the team gradually changed, and we searched for a more sustainable operational model for the program. Despite limited resources, we managed to maintain key activities and further develop a community that remains an open and safe space for meeting, sharing, and mutual support.

FOR ANIMAL RIGHTS

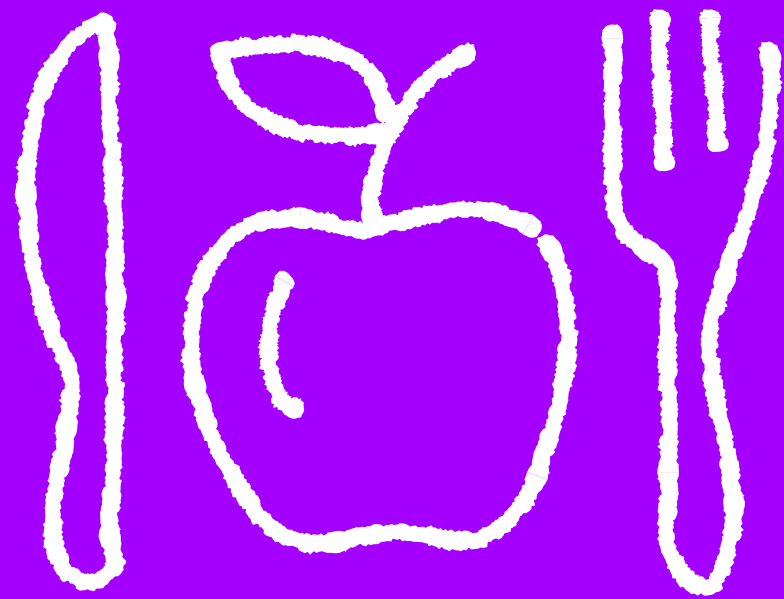

The year 2025 became a milestone in the history of the Colourful Canteens campaign. After six years of intensive work, negotiations, and awareness-raising, we achieved our “big win” – the approval of the amendment to the school catering decree. This legislative change, in whose commenting process we actively participated together with Zelený kruh and 13 other organizations, represents a major shift toward modern, healthy, and sustainable lunches for all children. It demonstrated that persistent pressure from experts and the non-profit sector on state institutions can truly bring results.

However, our activities were not limited to advocacy alone. Within a project focused on school decarbonization supported by the State Environmental Fund, we established close cooperation with three primary schools.

Together, we verified in practice that introducing more plant-based meals and reducing the carbon footprint of school catering is feasible even within the regular operation of Czech school kitchens. This experience provides us with a valuable argument for further expanding sustainable principles across school canteens.

FOR ANIMAL RIGHTS

Direct support for cafeteria staff is key to successful transformation. In 2025, we therefore continued professional training under the leadership of specialist Adam Brzica Novotný. We shared our expertise, for example, at Arabská Grammar School in Prague, the Secondary Medical School in Žďár nad Sázavou, and the Integrated Secondary School in Hodonín. To ensure this support is systematic and accessible to everyone, we published a new methodological guide How to Achieve Sustainable School Catering? in April, as well as the cookbook Plant-Based Recipes \(Not Only\) for School Canteens featuring tested plant-based recipes. In September, the cookbook was distributed to more than 600 school canteens across the country.

FOR ANIMAL RIGHTS

- * 600+ school canteens received our new plant-based cookbook.
- * 240+ upper secondary school students participated in interactive workshops.
- * 3 pilot schools joined the School Decarbonisation Project.
- * 4 school canteens completed our training programme.
- * 14 organisations endorsed our comments on the School Meals Decree.

FOR ANIMAL RIGHTS

We also continue amplifying the voice of the younger generation. Autumn workshops at secondary schools reached more than 240 students, with whom we discussed not only nutritional basics but also the ethical and environmental impacts of food production. Through the REBOOT FOOD project, we additionally worked with young ambassadors who actively support changes within their school communities. A study visit to France enabled us to share these experiences internationally and gain inspiration for further campaign development.

In September, we launched the Erasmus+ project PLANT in cooperation with the Slovak organization Živica. Together, we focus on exchanging experiences in sustainable gastronomy. A key output of the project is the development of an online tool for chefs, students, and teachers at vocational gastronomy schools. Our goal is for plant-based and environmentally friendly cooking to become a stable part of professional education for future hospitality professionals and a standard in mass catering.

FOR ANIMAL RIGHTS

In 2025, we also strongly communicated the topics of animal protection and sustainability toward political actors and the wider public. Our involvement in the initiative I Vote for Animals enabled us to promote sustainable catering as a relevant political issue.

Our message also resonated in digital spaces thanks to collaborations with public figures such as VEDU, Dewii, and David Kraus. Presentations at VeganFest and the Green Dock conference further confirmed growing public interest in what children eat at school and the impact it has on the world around them.

Thanks to the support of our donors and cooperation with partner organizations, we succeeded over the past year in connecting legislative achievements with practical field support.

The approved decree is both a victory and a commitment for us. In 2026, we will focus on ensuring that this change is truly reflected in the everyday practice of school canteens and that animal rights, sustainability, and children's health remain priorities.

THANK YOU

We are deeply grateful to be surrounded by people who share our values and support our work, both morally and financially.

In 2025, individual donors contributed CZK 1,826,747 in financial donations and CZK 4,137,250 in in-kind donations to NESEHNUTÍ. The support of our donors reminds us that we are not alone in our efforts to build a fairer world. Their generosity enables us to carry out our work and take meaningful steps towards greater freedom, responsibility, and civic engagement in the Czech Republic and beyond.

We sincerely appreciate every contribution and would like to thank everyone who stands with us and supports our mission.

We feel responsibility for the world around us.

We strive for change that advances justice and equality.

We want an open and engaged society, built on dialogue and respect for nature, people, and animals.

We empower communities and individuals to take action based on an understanding of social and environmental interconnections.

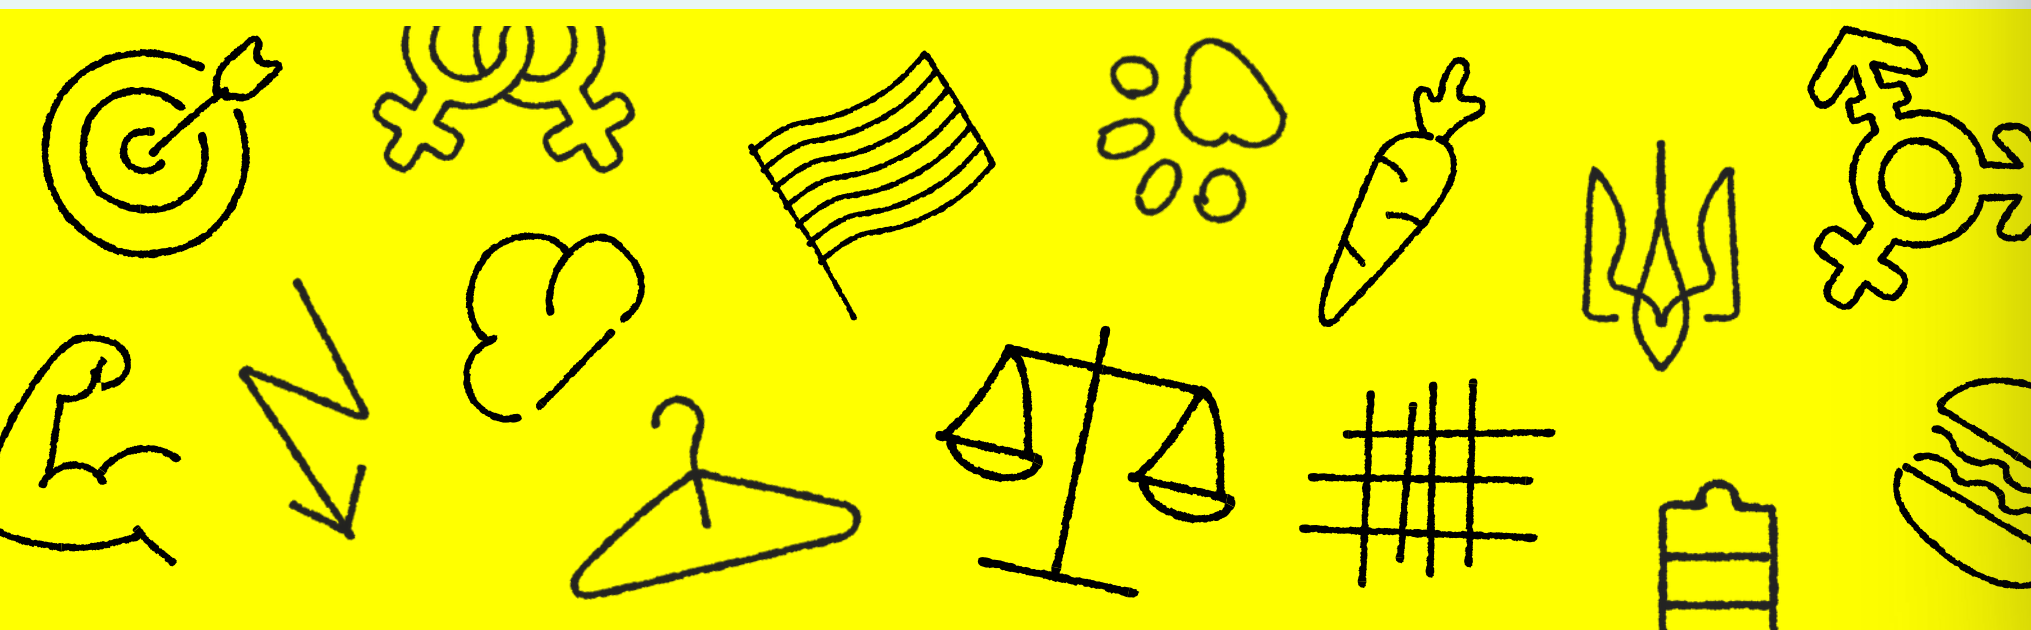

We embrace responsibility as an integral part of freedom.
